Colectare is a parcel forwarding brand that was founded in 2018 in Romania after the founder was trying to ship items from another country to his address and found that it was concerningly expensive. As time progressed and Colectare expanded their business, they have noticed a glaring issue with multiple other parcel forwarding services and wanted to ensure this problem was not present in Colectare. The problem was the lack of transparency and overall shady business practices that are considered normal in this sector.
